

The BSC Softball message board has now been archived. It has served a great purpose over the years, but with all the advancements of social media, the platform has become outdated.

All the information that you need to follow what's going on in BSC is on our new website: bscsoftball.com

The link to the message board will also disappear over the next few weeks and replaced with a more useful link. Thanks for your continued support of BSC Softball Inc.